In 1918, as a result of territorial changes, the Russian university of Dorpat (Dorpat) which had been in existence since 1622 was removed to Voronezh, Russia, where it was reestablished in 1919 with its former personnel and equipment. At the same time, the building at Dorpat were appropriated for the new Estonian university, "Tartu ülikool". Both universities continue the series of "Acta et commentationes Imp. Universitatis juriensis (olim dorpatensis)" published 1893-1912, the two current series being entitled respectively:
Acta et commentationes Universitatis dorpatensis. 1921- (the Estonian university at Dorpat (Tartu)), and
